Dr. James Young,
Ontario Chief Coroner. (416)

Dear Dr. Young,

Thank you very much for discussing the issue of suicides of persons abused by the medical profession so many times over the past several years. Your interest matches that of your predecessor, who so often took time to listen.

Although, of course, the circumstances when we met were tragic, I very much appreciate the times you have indicated concern for those who have died.

I had an idea, but of course you have probably already thought of it.

Are you a member of the Ontario Medical Association?

Have you done something to ensure your fellow members do not drive even more persons who have this disability to suicide?

CB
